Engaging learning formats

Engage with esteemed leading experts in high-quality scientific sessions and interactive clinical workshops. Acquire state-of-the-art medical knowledge and insights to take home to your practice.

Choose from a variety of formats to suit your specific learning preferences.

From classic-style lectures and small-group sessions to hands-on clinical skills training, you'll find the right options to meet your educational needs and match your interests. Popular formats include:

Case-Based Learning: Sessions employ case scenarios and real-world clinical examples to best achieve session objectives.

Clinical Pearls: Test your clinical acumen in case-based sessions and answer challenging patient management questions. Compare your critical thinking to your colleagues' and leave the sessions with a rich collection of "pearls" that you can apply to your practice.

Clinical Triads: Fast-paced, interactive sessions feature three speakers concisely addressing different aspects of an overarching theme and cover topics that are highly relevant to clinical practice.

Clinical Workshops: Attend interactive sessions focused on communication and interpretive and systems-based practice skills. Clinical Workshops use small-group breakouts and role-play models to teach these important topics.

Meet the Professor: Distinguished faculty analyze controversial issues, recent advances, and new developments in selected topics.

Multiple Small Feedings of the Mind: Focused, fast-paced presentations that offer evidence-based answers to dilemmas frequently faced in patient care.

Panels: Two or more faculty address different aspects of the selected topic or engage in point-counterpoint discussion.

Slide Shows: Highly visual presentations of selected topics.

Updates: Nationally recognized faculty review the year's most important published papers in internal medicine and the subspecialties. Learn about significant findings and their impact on patient care.

Workshops: Workshops are designed to be practical teaching exercises, often conducted as discussion groups involving close contact and frequent interchange between participants and faculty.

Find focus in special sessions.

Whether you practice primarily in an ambulatory or inpatient setting, discover sessions that are dedicated to a range of issues you can apply to your practice.

Ambulatory Medicine—Participate in an expansive selection of sessions relevant to outpatient care.

Hospital Medicine—Hospitalist-dedicated sessions focus on clinical topics, quality and safety, team-based approaches, and transitions of care for physicians who primarily practice in an in-patient setting.

Enhance your in-depth clinical knowledge with selected Pre-Courses.

Pre-Courses provide an in-depth examination of select topics. Arrive early in New Orleans for 1- and 2-day Pre-Courses, taking place April 1 to 2. A dozen full-day courses open Internal Medicine Meeting 2025 and provide current, practical, and applicable examination of selected topics presented by expert faculty.

Past Pre-Course topics have included:

- Critical Care Medicine
- Diabetes for Internal Medicine Physicians
- Geriatrics and Palliative Medicine for Internal Medicine Physicians
- Perioperative Medicine
- Advances in Therapy
- Cardiology for Internal Medicine Physicians: The Key Points
- Hospital Medicine: Success in a Complex Environment
- Primary Care Psychiatry: Practical Skills for Internal Medicine Physicians
- ACP Quality Improvement Leadership Training: Best Practices to Achieve Meaningful and Sustainable Improvement
- ACP Rapid Board Review
- Point-of-Care Ultrasound: Foundational Skills for Internal Medicine Physicians
- New! Advancing Nutrition in Medical Practice

Save even more! Pre-Courses require pre-registration and many fill up quickly*. Register early to ensure your spot in your desired course. Plus, don't forget you can save with Early Bird rates on Pre-Courses. Registration for Pre-Courses will open in October.

* Pre-Courses are presented in-person only.

Immerse yourself in experiential learning at its best

Build and refresh your skills with hands-on and interactive learning opportunities in New Orleans. Learn alongside your colleagues in small-group environments, benefit from direct feedback from instructors, and refine your training.

Clinical Skills Center
